THE MOUND

PUBLISHED • BY •
FAIRMONT STATE

FAIRMONT W.VA.

— 1933 —

Foreword

The volume which you hold in your hands is the culmination of twenty-five years of effort on the part of students of the school. It has been published during a strenuous year, in which the ingenuity and business acumen of the compilers have been tested to the utmost. If this, the SILVER ANNIVERSARY MOUND, on some far distant day may touch some tender chord of memory, and recall to you the long-forgotten friends of your student days, we feel that our time and labor will not have been misspent.

who have been co-workers in FAIRMONT STATE TEACH-ERS COLLEGE during the life of the book, we, on this our 25th Anniversary, respectfully dedicate this, the
1933 MOUND

DEAN OLIVER A. SHURTLEFF

Mrs. N. R. C. Morrow

THE staff of the Mound has a great deal of respect for Mrs. Morrow. She was the first of the present faculty to serve the school, coming to Fairmont in 1882. From 1884 to 1889 she served as Assistant Principal, and as Principal 1889-1890. In the autumn of 1890 she married, and was thereby lost to us for a time. Some time after the opening of the twentieth century she returned to teach once more in our school, and has been here ever since.

Widely traveled, intelligent, gentle and cultured woman that she is, her's has been a full and fruitful life. Long a leader in women's work, she served as president of both the local and state W. C. T. U. and as a platform speaker for the cause; she served as president of the Fairmont Public Library Association for many years, and her work for World Peace has been long and sincere. As Chaplain of the school she exerts a very real influence over the student body.

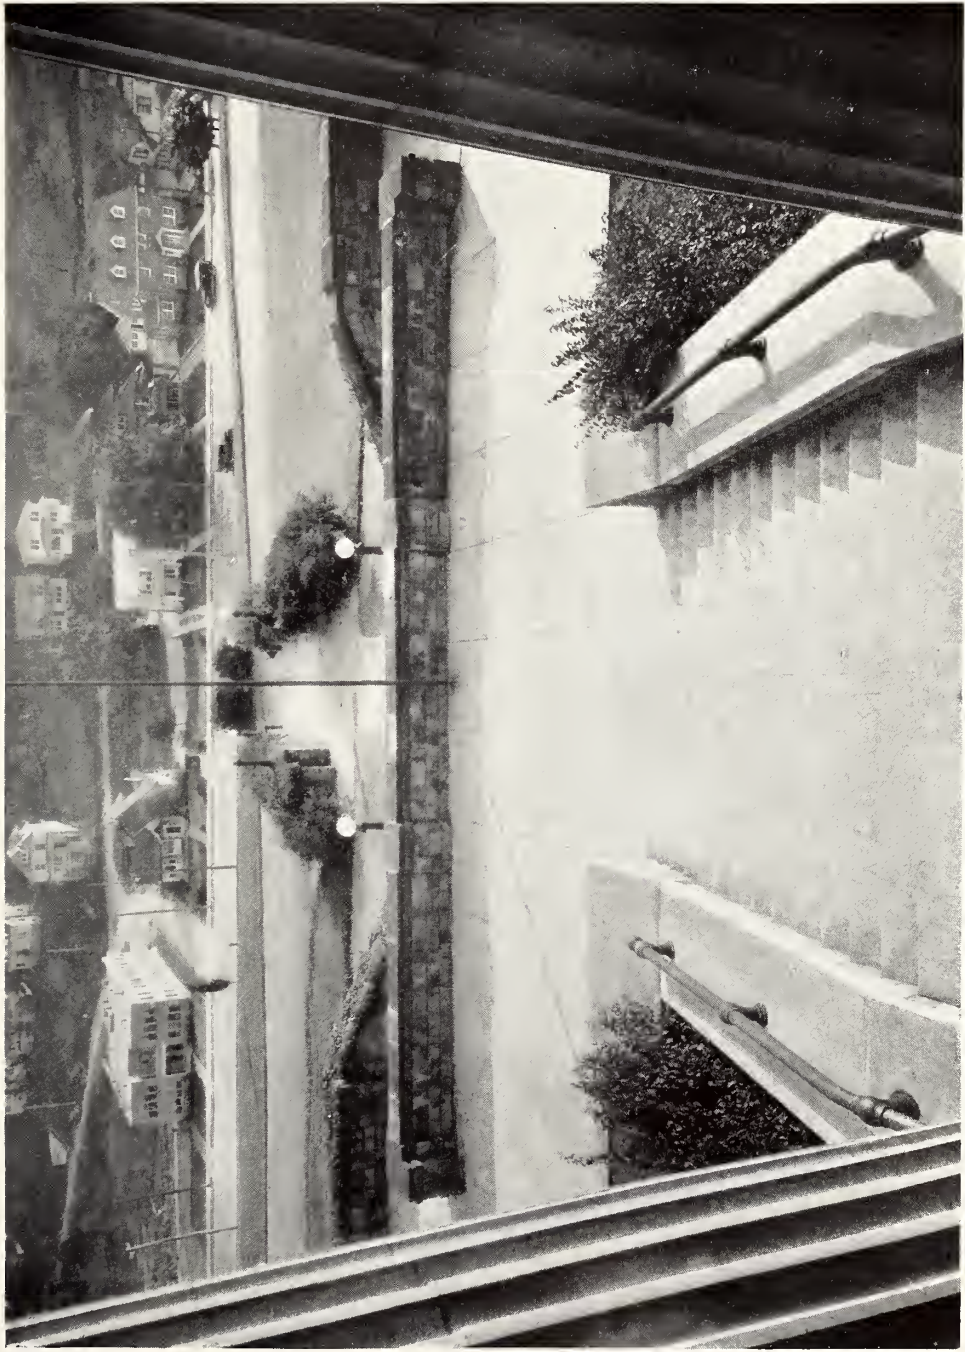

Such a record as this you will go a long way to equal. Mrs. Morrow, Beloved Friend and Counselor, we salute you!

THE time has come for another exodus of Senior College students. Many will depart from the institution in June and many will complete their "work" in August, and thus Fairmont College will lose in the neighborhood of 112 students who will go forth into the world to embark on careers of various and sundry natures, better prepared to meet the problems which they will confront by reason of the knowledge they have gained in four years on the Fairmont College campus.

It always is sad as well as joyous to bid the seniors adieu. Many will leave never to return again. Others will frequently visit the campus in years to come. Some no doubt will be glad college days for them are over, but to the majority it will be with more than a tinge of regret that they leave the "four walls of learning" as students, for the last time.

The Senior College Class of 1933 stands out as a class among classes. The seniors throughout their four years have been unusually active. Various projects have been sponsored, and have been finished, by the class of '33.

May the spirit and tradition that emanates from Fairmont College live on with you forever and may success be yours to cherish always, graduates.

THE Class of 1934 brings to an end its third year of success on the college campus. Realizing that the end of the road is near, the class has tightly gripped the reins for the final dash which means so much to every member.

During the past three years the class has excelled in many fields of activity. Athletics, Dramatics, and social functions have felt the keen support of the Class of '34.

Always a leading figure in the social activities on the campus, the class this year sponsored its most outstanding function, in the form of a Junior Prom, which was a highlight of the social season. So with optimism the Class of 1934 looks forward to its most distinguished year upon the campus, in which it hopes to raise the standards and ideals of Fairmont State Teachers College.

* * * * *

I count this thing to be grandly true:
 That a noble deed is a step toward God,
 Lifting the soul from the common clod
To a purer air and a broader view.

We rise by the things that are under feet;
 By what we have mastered of good and gain;
 By the pride deposed and the passion slain,
And the vanquished ills that we hourly meet.

* * * * *

Heaven is not reached at a single bound;
 But we build the ladder by which we rise
 From the lowly earth to the vaulted skies,
And we mount to its summit, round by round.

THE Senior Normal Class of 1933 will soon be going forth into various parts of the state to seek positions. Many of them may not be so fortunate as to get a position, but we feel sure that they are prepared to meet the requirements and problems of teaching.

The Senior Normal Class will be remembered for its dramatic, social, and scholastic ability. The loss of this large class will be keenly felt in all the varied lines of activity in which the class was so vigorously interested.

Happy Landings, Fledgling Teachers! May your wings be strong!

God Give Us Men

God give us men
A time like this demands,
Strong minds, great hearts,
True faith and ready hands.
Men whom the lust of office does not kill;
Men whom the spoils of office can not buy;
Men who possess opinions and a will;
Men who have honor;
Men who will not lie.

Harold Frantz Rogers

MR. Rogers first came to Fairmont to teach in 1903-4. He left the next year to take a position at Glenville, and from 1906-8 studied as a graduate student at Harvard. In 1908 he received his M. A. from Harvard and returned to Fairmont to resume his position in the science department. He has been an active and vigorous supporter of the activity of the school since that time, acting as head of the science department and as track coach during early years here.

Member of many national organizations for the advancement of Science and of Education, his has been an active life. He is a member of the Association of Harvard Chemists, the American Chemical Society, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the N. E. A., President, 1929, W. Va. Academy of Science, and member of Delta Tau Delta and Lambda Delta Lambda fraternity.

JASPER H. COLEBANK

Head Coach, Athletic Director

Coley, as we are sure he will not mind to be addressed, has been here so long writers have run out of new things to say about him. All The Mound Staff wishes to contribute as its wishes is that he stays four times as long as he already has been here.

Say, Coley, that was one great football team!

FRANK A. ICE

Assistant Football Coach

And that line about the football team goes for you, too, Frank Ice! You were a valuable man, as was Frank Abruzzino, and we cannot tell you in words how we appreciate, the same as we know Coach Colebank does, your everlastingly excellent efforts. May you be with us again next fall.

CHRIS LOLOS

Baseball Coach, Assistant Basketball Coach

Here is a dandy nice fellow who shouldn't be fooling with college grown-ups. Where he should be is in some nice sized high school where he can develop his talents and simultaneously bring up a group of boys of his "own."

But Fairmont College isn't at all angry that he is a member of her staff. The latchstring of the college always will be out to him.

FORREST B. CRANE

Publicity Director

This young benedict was director of athletic publicity and assistant director of athletics before extra prosperity knocked at his door and beckoned him to a steady newspaper job. He now is sporting editor of the Fairmont Times, local daily. Withall he continues his scholastic work and manages to get in some nice pieces about the college athletic teams. However, he no longer has the time to help Director Colebank. He graduates this year.

FRANK TALBOTT

Football Manager

It is no secret that the boys at first thought they were not going to get along very well with Sir Frank. But before the first game had been played he was the friend of the whole squad. There was the usual amount of kicking, of course, but Frank got along with the boys as well as any manager in recent years. The season should have been a financial profit the way he figured things down to the penny. He'll get along in this world.

RALPH DOOLITTLE, JR.

Basketball Manager

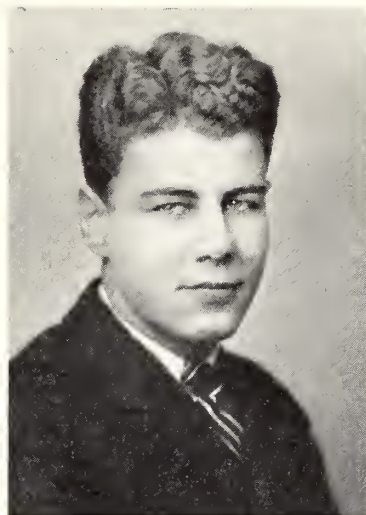

Classy basketball managers are not a rarity here, but it would be unfair not to give "Dude" a higher ranking if possible. He was par excellence. Coach Colebank never was more pleased with the work of a student overseer of equipment and college funds on trips away from home. His only hope is that he has trained an assistant to be the same type of manager next year as "Dude" was this.

The Season

FACTS and figures relative to the 1932 football season of Fairmont State Teachers College speak for themselves. It was the most glorious campaign the Fighting Teachers have experienced since 1925. The 1932 record when closely compared stands even better than that of the 1925 eleven.

The season was opened auspiciously, Concord first falling before the men of Jasper Colebank, 6 to 0, then the Teachers swamping Cedarville of Ohio, 59 to 0, without extending themselves at all.

Disaster was encountered when Potomac State of Keyser came here to play for George Parrish's eleven stacked up on even terms with the Teachers and that day they were just 13 points to the better of Fairmont.

The next week-end found the Teachers invading Pennsylvania to play California. It was a sultry afternoon and the best the team could do was battle to a scoreless tie. California was on the defense all afternoon.

Returning to Pennsylvania the next Saturday to engage Indiana, the team dropped its second and last encounter of the season, being nosed out by Indiana, 7 to 6.

1908—MOUND—1933

Regular Football Squad

After two weeks on the road, the team came home once more and trounced an old nemesis, Bethany, on Rosier Field to the tune of 14 to 0.

The most thrilling victory of all was achieved next Saturday when Fairmont conquered a potent Shepherd team on its home field by the narrow margin of 19 to 18. The Teachers spotted Shepherdstown two touchdowns, then went to work and tied it up, fell behind again and then won out in the finish.

Almost as great a triumph was earned in the closing game of the season, played on Rosier Field. A mighty Salem team, living up to every tradition of the Tigers who never had tasted defeat on the gridiron at the hands of Fairmont, met its superior and was driven to a 6 to 0 defeat, the result of a spectacular touchdown dash by Leroy Davis.

Nineteen thirty-two will long live in the memory of Fairmont College as a great football season.

1908—MOUND—1933

WILFORD WILSON, Fullback

When illness put Jenkins on the shelf, Wilson came through with flying colors to uphold the rear part of the machine. He played his best games against Shepherd and Salem. From what he showed last season, one of the backfield posts should not cause the coaches any sleepless nights next fall. One of Wilson's main fortes is flipping very accurate aerial bombs.

ROBERT JONES, Back-Tackle

Two hundred and sixteen pounds of beef in the person of Jones started the season in the backfield and did well. Later, the giant was moved to the line, where he played tackle and performed in an equally brilliant manner. Only a freshman, he, of course, lacked experience but he gained enough playing most of every game last fall to put him in line for a regular job next year. He should make history in 1933, 1934 and 1935.

JAMES ALTMAN, Quarterback

As a member of the backfield squad, "Happy" displayed excellent work in every engagement. He has a football head and puts into use what he studies out in his mind. He didn't get to play all the time, but his presence always was a happy thing to his mates. He knows how to make the best of the worst situations.

JAMES CLARA, Fullback

He might be called "Battler," for he never failed to hit and hit hard. It was his fourth year and easily his best. He showed more dash than ever before and was always feared by the opposition. He was a bearcat on the defense as well as a hard driving offensive back. Fairmont College hated to see him leave at the end of the first semester, at which time he completed his scholastic work.

1908—MOULD—1933

HUGH JENKINS, Halfback

Jenkins may rightfully be called the sweetest halfback Fairmont College has had in a flock of blue moons. A plunger, a tackler, a great all-around football player, describes the none too heavy gridder who backed up the line. He is one of the best defensive backfield men the Teachers have ever known.

RICHARD HAWKINS, Halfback

One of the best captains Fairmont College has ever had the honor to boast. It didn't take long for the team and fans to find this fact out. Hawkins started off playing bangup football and he wound up the same way. He did the punting and much of the pigskin lugging. He was good in all departments of the game, defensive not excluded. The Teachers will be fortunate if next years leaders take a few of the tips handed out by the successful 1932 leader.

JAMES REDDICK, Halfback

"Battlin' Jim" lived up to his record for the 1931 season. He played good football every minute he was used, which was a good deal. Being his last year, he made it count. He had the power and the pep. His absence when the roll is called next fall will be very, very conspicuous.

WILBUR JONES, Halfback

The "fightin'est Fighting Teacher" ever turned out on the hill. In other words, he is the original "give it and take it" gridman. He showed this when he played throughout the first of the season under the handicap of an injured shoulder. He later was forced to the sidelines with a badly twisted wrist, but he would have played if he had been permitted to do so. He will make some school an ideal coach.

1908—MOUND—1933

FRANK CAPUTO, Halfback

The ex-Shimston High School star disappointed some of his followers by not making the first eleven. In fact, Caputo probably disappointed himself. He found it tough to get going after laying out of school and off football for four years. However, he played in the majority of the games. His was a good toe and booted many of the team's extra points.

LEONARD DAVIS, Halfback

This Davis was not a regular but he was an asset as a substitute. He could be counted on to put out a potent brand of football whenever sent into a game. He was one of the faithful understudies who could be depended on at all times. His work was best when he was playing along beside his brother.

LEROY DAVIS, Quarterback

The name, Davis, did not appear in the starting lineup of the season's opener against Concord, but it was not long until Leroy was a fixture in the backfield. He was the best broken field runner on the squad and proved to be a capable punter. His runs from punt formation proved the undoing of many an opponent. It would be wonderful if a "find" like Davis could be found every year.

WALTER GLENN, Halfback

The spark, so to speak, in the backfield was provided by "Maggie," light haired little ball carrier whose name is speed. He could pick the holes and crossed the goal line more than once on the receiving end of passes, which he can snag with the best of backs. Another freshman who is destined to do big things before diploma days come for him.

1908—MOUND—1933

FRANCIS HUBER, Tackle

Although the competition was stiff, Huber could not be ousted from the tackle position which he had held the two previous seasons. He was still troubled by some weak ankles, but he never once stopped because of them. It's nice to know he will be back again next fall.

ADAM SHAFFER, Center

The red head from Shinnston divided duty at center with Lombardo. This gave the team two powerful pivot men. Shaffer lacked a little in experience, but he more than made up for that deficiency in willingness to learn and his ability to hold his own ground. The way he played the fans sometimes thought it was a shame there are not two center positions.

HARRY McCOY, End

McCoy was about the most faithful player the squad possessed. His efforts were untiring. He did not see a great amount of service, but he never failed to display real football when inserted at the flank. Two more seasons are ahead of him. Watch this gridder step out!

STERLING FLEMING, Tackle

Fleming missed making the grade by a fraction of an inch, but he was used often as a tackle replacement. He is big and packs plenty of power. Aggressiveness, a quality experience will bring to him, should mold him into a regular. He will be back three more years and is a tackle foundation on which future combinations may be built.

1908—MOULD—1933

WILLIAM SPRINGSTON, Guard

Last season, his first on the college squad, Springston, a West Fairmont High product, proved his mettle serving as an understudy. He gained valuable experience and promises next year to put in a serious bid for a regular position. He is sure to be one of the Teachers' righthand men before his collegiate career is finished.

PAUL VANATA, Guard

Formerly a back, Vanata was converted into a linesman for the 1932 campaign and where he had been mediocre as a ball totter he developed into a first-rate man on the forward wall. His short stocky build made him a hard man for the opposition to run plays through or over. He did not escape Old Man Injury and missed the last part of the season. He was missed, too.

ROSS GERARD, Guard

Guards were plentiful and Gerard wasn't a regular the whole season. But when he wasn't started he was always sent into the fray to relieve a weary mate and though little but mighty he always gave the foe plenty to worry about. He is fast as greased lightning and nothing less than a locomotive can stop him. Next year will be his last.

FRANK LOMBARDO, Center

Lombardo will share the captaincy with Tedrick next fall. He is another mite but mighty. Weighing less than 150 pounds, he played center half the season regularly and the other half saw service as a relief man. Lombardo says himself that 1933 will be his banner year, so opposing centers will do well to take note. When he says a thing, he usually makes it good.

1908—MOUND—1933

BYRON LINDLEY, Guard

One of the most valuable first year men Coaches Colebank and Ice have had the good fortune to come across in several seasons is Lindley, hefty westerner who saw a great deal of service at guard. He started most of the early season games. Later an injury hampered his play, but although he did not get the call for the opening kickoff some of the later battles he performed satisfactorily and helpfully in substitute roles.

ROBERT TEDRICK, Guard

Last season was Tedrick's third as a Fighting Teacher. A true indication of his worth was given by a squad when it voted at the end of the campaign to name him co-captain of the 1933 eleven. One of the few linemen weighing over the 200-pound mark, Tedrick is fast and aggressive. He pulls out of the line fast and is especially apt at leading the interference. His fourth and final year should be by all means the best in his long career of gridironing.

FRANK PALMER, Tackle

Palmer, a picture of huskiness, failed to make the first eleven in his third season of football play at Fairmont College, but he was regarded as one of the best substitutes on the squad. An injured knee in mid-season put him out of commission for a time but he came right back. Unless all signs fail, he should be in a regular position for every game next fall.

FRANK BILOTTA, Tackle

Bilotta is a two-year man. Plenty big, plenty tough, and plenty smart describes him to a tee. He takes particular delight in smearing enemy plays and playing in the opposing backfield. He's the kind of a player who can put the old fight into his mates and he never hesitates to do that little thing. A real "take it and dish it out" gridder, this fellow.

1908—MOUND—1933

FRANK TEACOACH, End

Coach Colebank thought before the start of the season that he was going to be hard pressed for ends, but as it turned out he wasn't. Teacoach was one of the reasons. Teacoach made a habit of playing hard football and it was a treat to see him perform at terminal.

ROBERT HAWKINS, End

Not greatly heralded in advance notices, Hawkins soon caused the coaches to open their eyes with his work on the end of the line. The brand of football he exhibited was so good that he could not be kept off the regular eleven and it was seldom that he did not start a game. He has three more years.

ANTHONY DELLIGATTI, End

"Cotton," as he is most familiarly known, gave football another try and played some of the best games of his career. Capable as ever, his long experience was beneficial to the rest of the team in tight places. He knew what should be done and when to do it.

JUNE SNODERLY, End

When a dependable wingman was needed to fill in a breach, the coaches had only to look in the direction of Snoderly, former star at Farmington High, who reported here for the first time last September. If he doesn't win for himself a regular berth next fall, the coaches and the rest of the squad will be surprised.

BEN MORGAN, End

Morgan failed to break into the headlines because the greater part of the time he saw service on the sidelines. He was in every game heart and soul, however, and when called upon he gave commendable account of himself. It was his final season and the Teachers will miss him.

1932 Basketball Squad

LIVING up to the custom of playing "in and out" ball, the Fairmont State Teachers College floor quint batted .500 for the 1933 season, winning 11 games and losing a similar number.

Waynesburg bumped the team off in the first two games of the season, but it came back to win three in a row. Then two more, both close affairs, were dropped before two in succession were won. Potomac State was included in this latter brace. The game was played at Keyser and Fairmont's victory ended a 17-game home winning streak for the men of George Parrish.

The team split even on a southern trip, lost to Salem and then came out on the losing end of two heart-breaking home games with Wesleyan and New River. Bluefield was beaten here, but Potomac State, in an extra period duel, gained revenge for the earlier licking handed it. Fairmont lost at Bethany. The team finished strong, taking Salem, Shepherd and Bethany in successive home games.

1908—MOUND—1933

GEORGE ZUNDELL, Forward

George was wearing a Teachers' uniform for the second season and he improved as the season progressed. He never quite made the regular lineup, but he was one of Coach Colebank's most valuable substitutes and saw a great deal of service. It will take a lot to keep him off next year's team.

JAMES REDDICK, Guard

They first called him "Battlin' Jim." He was that in basketball all right, but a better term for him would probably be "Old Faithful." He was always ready to be inserted when he didn't start at the outset and never failed to give a grand account of himself. He could be depended upon to put new life into any sagging combination.

WALTER MASON, Forward

"Reeves" returned to college after absenting himself for a year. Fairmont was not in the least displeased. The basketball team in particular profited by his decision to re-enroll. An injured foot, suffered early in the season, hampered him to some extent for a period, but he at last recovered fully and played some mighty fine basketball for Coach Colebank. It's good to know we will have him back in 1933-34.

1908—MOUND—1933

EUGENE STALNAKER, Center

Gene held the distinction of being the tallest man on the squad. Only lack of experience kept him from gaining a regular position. He played in the majority of the games and showed promise of developing into a regular in the not far distant future.

GAIL BARNES, Guard

Another guard and another "Old Faithful" or "Old Dependable." He had his bad nights, of course, when the ball just wouldn't drop through the netting for him no matter how hard he tried, but he also had his share of good evenings and when he was hitting it simply was too bad for the opposition. In addition to being a powerful scorer, he is a crack defensive player. And he'll be back, too.

WILFORD WILSON, Center

"Squib" was regular center and a good one. Not particularly tall, he gets off his feet nicely and can leap into the air on even terms with most any center he comes in contact with. Never before a high scorer, he dropped in many points for the Teachers during the 1933 season. It was his shooting which pulled them through several ball games which otherwise would not have been won.

1908—MOUND—1933

KENNETH BARNES, Guard

Another Barnes is coming on. Kenneth is his name and he was only a freshman during the 1933 season, but listen further. He showed plenty and unless all good signs fail he will develop into as good a player as his brilliant brother. He can shoot and guard just exactly like Gail and one thing he has on his elder is a bit more husky frame. You'll hear a lot of him before the end of the next three years.

RICHARD HAWKINS, Forward

"Hayseed" was another senior winding up his floor career. While he did not start some of the games, it seldom failed that he did not take part in portions of them. On several occasions his insertion meant the same to the team as a missing spark plug. He would step right in and proceed to start the team off on rallies which won ball games. It's too bad he's saying goodbye this year. We wish him the best of luck.

HERBERT BONAR, Forward and Captain

The kingpin scorer of the team was none other than its little blonde captain, Herb Bonar, who caged well over 250 points from his forward position. Fast as greased lightning, Bonar was one of the most vital links in the cogs of the Teachers' machinery. He proved equally as capable a leader as player. Although this was his last year, he had seen but three seasons of varsity basketball. Future opponents will be glad he's leaving, but Fairmont College isn't a bit.

1908—MOUND—1933

JOHN HORNYAK, Guard

Playing his fourth season of varsity basketball, "Butch" set out to make it his best. He accomplished his aim. He was here, there and everywhere in every game and drew the commendation of every opposing coach and player. Not big, he made up for that shortcoming in his ability to step lively and fight fiercely. He will be missed more than words can express.

1908—MOUND—1933

1932 Baseball

FAIRMONT State Teachers College enjoyed a successful baseball season in 1932. The team, composed mostly of veterans, played for the first time under the mentorship of Chris Lolos, former Middle Atlantic League outfielder. Coach Colebank turned over the job to Lolos so that he might give his time to the tutelage of the tennis squad.

The team got away to a poor start, losing to Marietta and West Virginia by lopsided scores, but soon struck its stride and began to chalk up victories. Wesleyan, California and a number of independent teams were among the victims of the Teachers, who also avenged the early defeat at Marietta's hands by winning from that nine in the final game of the season at Rosier Field.

The most thrilling game was that with California on the Pennsylvania field, which the Teachers came from behind to cop, 14 to 13.

The team during the early part of the season was below par both in hitting and pitching, but as the weather grew warmer the boys found their eyes and the hurling became much more potent. Roger Santee, freshman moundsman, proved to be a real find and it was his excellent work that paved the way for six victories. He was beaten only once. Valuable aid on the mound was lent him by Hugh Machesney and Pete Beatty, veterans playing their last year.

As a nucleus for his club this spring, Coach Lolos has veterans in "Butch" Hornyak, outfielder; Herb Bonar, infielder; Francis Huber, first base; Johnny Parks, catcher; Richard Hawkins, infielder; and Santee. New men include Bob Jones, outfielder; Charles Jones, outfielder; Otis Milam, outfielder; Wayne Swinger, infielder; Harry Staggers, shortstop; and June Snoderly, pitcher. Another player, Wilford Wilson, who formerly was an infielder, is aspiring for a pitching berth.

The season did not get away to an early start due to adverse weather which washed out the scheduled opener against Marietta at Marietta, Ohio, April 15. Before the season is over, approximately 12 games will have been played, including varsity combats with West Virginia, Salem, Glenville and California.

Mattingly

Manley

Sharp

Fairmont College put a varsity tennis team into inter-collegiate competition for the first time last spring. The results were remarkable. A powerful six-man aggregation was worked out by Coach Colebank and the final check-up showed four victories for the team as against three defeats.

1908—MOUND—1933

Vincent

Brown

Powell

Tom Powell, who later won the Fairmont City championship, was No. 1 man and he lost only one match. Londo Brown, No. 2 man, was nearly on a par with Powell. There was little difference between Jack Sharp and Rex Manley. Kurtz Mattingly and Lantz Vincent brought up the rear guard, with Delmar Yost taking part intermittently.

1908—MOUND—1933

Miss Laura F. Lewis

MISS Lewis is one of our most capable and interesting pedagogians. Interest in her classes never lags, for she has the rare ability to bring out the best work possible from her students, and they are so surprised to find that they can do really acceptable work that they do twice as good work as they are accustomed to do.

Miss Lewis is one of the most staunch supporters this school has ever had. She is to be found encouraging every effort toward the good of the school, especially the work of the publications.

During her long period of service here, she has helped many a struggling English major to find light in pursuance of the correct. Long life and full measure to you, Miss Lewis!

Student Council

STUDENT government was inaugurated in Fairmont State Teachers College November 7, 1907, under the guidance of Dr. C. J. C. Bennett, president of the institution at that time, and has been in use ever since. It has had an interesting history. In 1911 its existence was threatened by a misunderstanding between the president of the school and the president of the student body. For a time it seemed that the organization was not to endure. Difficulties were soon straightened out and nothing came of the affair. That same year, 1911, the constitution was lost and the organization continued to operate without one for ten years. In 1921 a new constitution was drafted. However, during those ten years, a social committee had the highest power for a time, and for a period the athletic council reigned. In 1924 a new constitution was made, and in 1928 was discarded for still another one, which is in use at the present time with revisions and amendments.

1908—MOUND—1933

Executive Committee

THE Executive Committee is composed of seven members, two students being added in 1931 by Constitutional Amendment. The committee has complete organization and administration of the social calendar and granting of social privileges. Members of the council make a special effort to perform its duties in a manner highly satisfactory to the organizations and clubs which are subordinate to the committee. The Vice President of the Student Body, who is automatically the chairman of the committee, the two deans serving ex-officio, one additional faculty member, and three students compose the group. The latter four are selected by a committee of the whole.

Inter - Fraternity Council

THE Inter-Fraternity Council is a group consisting of one member from each of the several social fraternities and sororities on the campus. The Council has its own constitution and has full power and authority over fraternal affairs.

The annual Pan-Hellenic dance was held in the Armory December 16, 1932, featuring Weldon Williams and Eddie Barretts' orchestras. Ann Pangle Williams was general chairman of the affair with the other members of the Council serving on the committee.

Alpha Chapter Lambda Delta Lambda

ALPHA Chapter of Lambda Delta Lambda, National honorary physical science fraternity, was organized at Fairmont State Teachers College in 1925 by students primarily interested in chemistry. The purpose of the fraternity is to promote interest in the study of the physical sciences. It has accomplished its objectives, in large measure, and now ranks as one of the outstanding honorary societies of our campus.

Alpha Chapter Alpha Psi Omega

FAIRMONT College's chapter of Alpha Psi Omega is the first of a long and distinguished line — a line which has lengthened in the eight years since its inception under Paul F. Opp, Grand Business Manager of the national organization and editor of the Playbill, the fraternity's magazine, to a grand total of over 100 chapters. The Chapter roll includes the names of many of the leading colleges of this country: University of Maryland, Iowa Wesleyan, Washington University, Colgate, Temple University, University of South Carolina, to name only a few of the more distinguished ones.

The fraternity is purely an honorary one, designed originally for the purpose of rewarding students interested in the field of drama for faithful and enthusiastic service and achievement in that field. All work incidental to production is credited along with a definitely stated amount of acting points; thus, the fraternity is able to bestow its reward to a representative group of dramatic workers.

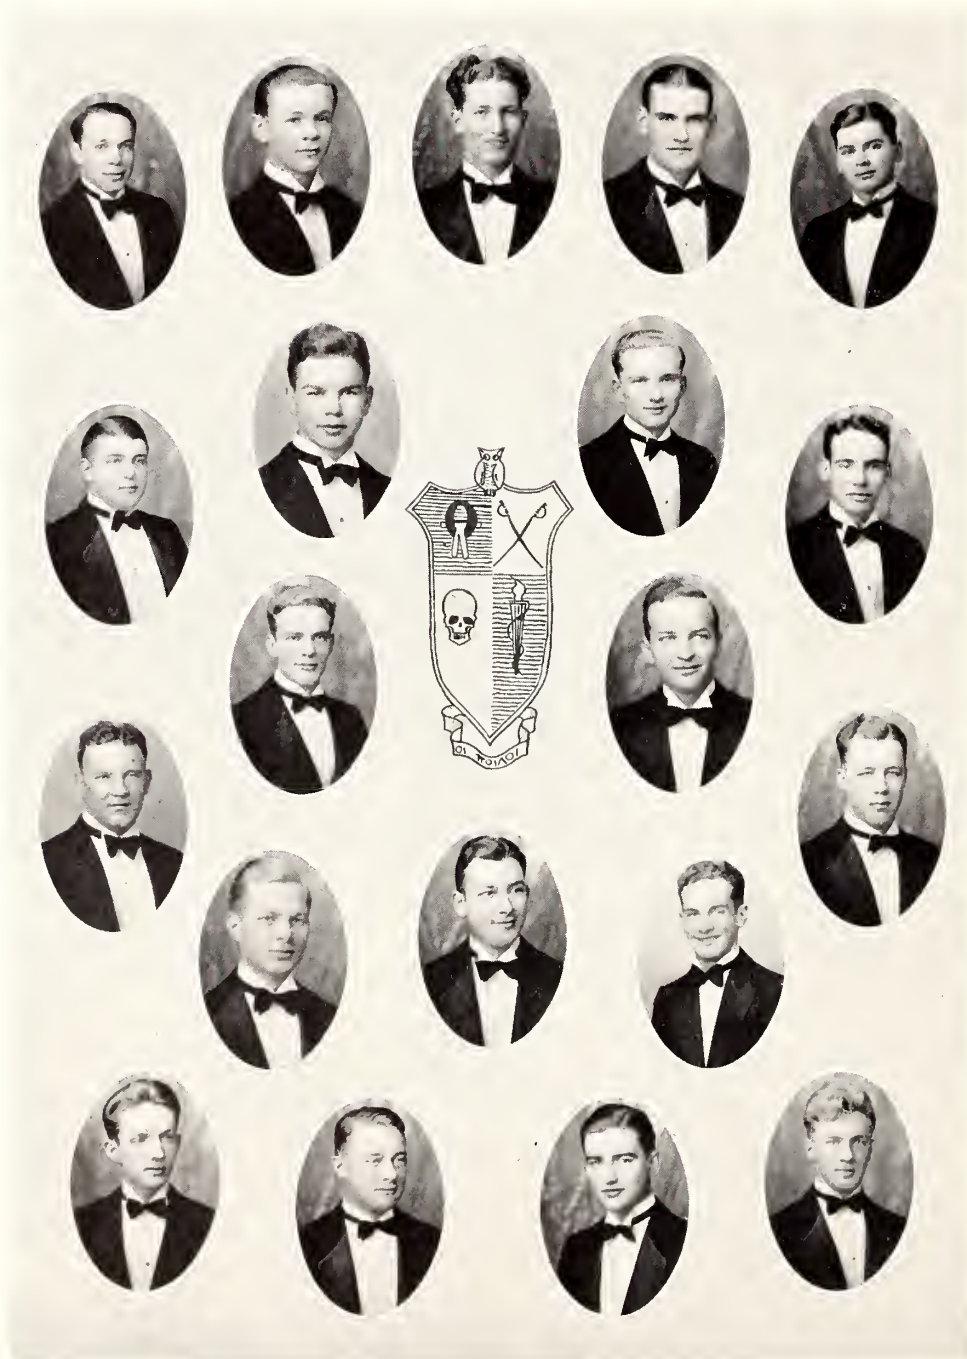

The most note-worthy achievement of the fraternity this year was the production of the old morality play "Everyman." Both the actives and the alumni members took part in this performance. The play was given with all its medieval splendor greatly, enhanced by the superb acting of Ralph F. Doolittle Jr., Grand Director of the Cast.

Omicron Pi

THE Omicron Pi Fraternity was organized in the spring of 1927 and was recognized by the Student Council, January 10, 1928. Since that time it has grown steadily and has become one of the outstanding organizations on the campus.

Omicron Pi has been a pioneer in many worthwhile activities in college life and has never been a laggard in supporting those good measures introduced by others. In this year of depression and hard times the Fraternity has endeavored to meet the conditions by eliminating those things which were not essential to the growth of the organization.

The Fraternity at all times tries to uphold those ideals on which it is founded: fellowship, loyalty, honor, and good will both among its members and among other campus groups.

THE Gamma Chi Chi Sorority was organized in November, 1926, with six charter members. It was the first sorority on the campus and its membership the first year was limited to Morrow Hall girls. The next year the members were chosen from the ranks of the entire student body.

This organization endeavors to maintain a high scholastic standing, and to take an active part in all school activities. It has become traditional with the sorority to assist the faculty in registration.

Gamma Chi Chi has the largest active membership of any sorority on the campus.

Tau Beta Iota

FOUNDED in November, 1925, by a group of young men who thought there was an ever increasing need for fraternal organizations on our campus, the T. B. I. Fraternity became a reality. T. B. I. being the first social fraternity on the campus immediately set up an objective of promoting better college spirit and scholastic achievement. This perhaps is the one reason more than any other single factor why this organization has always been an outstanding fraternity of Fairmont State Teachers College.

To gain the ranks of this Fraternity is not easy; one must first prove outstanding ability in some line of extra-curricular activity; he must set a high scholastic standard; and, above all, he must be a person of unquestionable character.

The social events of this fraternity are always looked forward to by the entire student body. Three expense dances were sponsored this year by the organization, and the members wish to express their thanks to the student body for the support they received.

The black and gold shield of the Fraternity is an inspiration to every new male student in school.

Alpha Kappa Chapter Sigma Sigma Sigma

THE Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority made its appearance on the college campus in May, 1930, when the local Tau Tau Tau, second oldest sorority, became nationally affiliated with the oldest known national educational sorority. Sigma Sigma Sigma was founded at Farmville, Va., in 1898 and has to date thirty alumnae chapters.

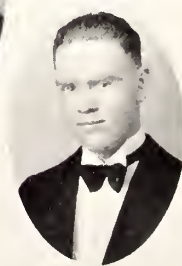

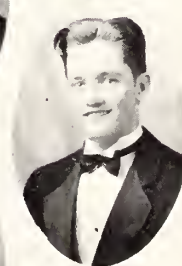

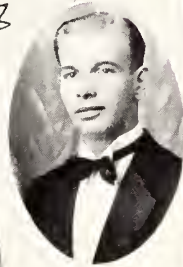

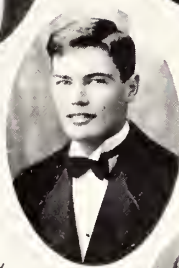

The aims of the sorority are to establish among its members a perpetual bond of friendship, to develop in them strong womanly character, and to impress them with the high standards of the teaching profession. This group believes that only through friendship and fellowship can a truly democratic spirit be developed on the campus, and it is attempting to do its bit toward developing this spirit by extending an offer of friendship and co-operation to every organization. Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority's biennial convention will be held in July in Chicago, the scene of the World's Fair.

XI Chapter Sigma Tau Gamma

THE Sigma Tau Gamma Fraternity is the oldest national teachers college fraternity in the United States. It is also the largest, with eighteen active chapters and over two thousand members. The Fraternity was organized at Missouri State Teachers College in Warrensburg, Missouri.

Xi Chapter of Fairmont State Teachers College was organized March 23, 1929, and has been active on the campus since that time.

Sigma Tau Gamma stands for high ideals, scholarship, and good college spirit. The purpose of this progressive group of young men is to do everything in their power to aid the college in any way possible.

Beta Psi Beta

BETA Psi Beta Sorority was recognized by the Student Council, February 19, 1931 when it became the fifth sorority on the campus. The Sorority endeavors to promote scholarship, sportsmanship, and fellowship among its members, and to help in developing a co-operative and friendly spirit in the college.

The tea-dance given each spring in honor of the other sororities and fraternities is one of the outstanding social functions of the year.

The 4th Annual Intercollegiate One - Act Play Contest

THE Masquers, for the second time in four years, were the hosts to the other colleges of the state when they staged the 4th annual one-act play contest in our auditorium.

Faithful committees served efficiently in the various departments of production and Fairmont was congratulated by the visiting casts on their excellent completion of the arrangements.

The heads of the various committees were: Stage, Irving Smith; Properties, Walker Thomas; Housing, Lottie Bell; Entertainment, Nancy Ruth Haught; Refreshments, Mary Katherine Kennedy and Belledonna Booth; Publicity, Phillip Kennedy; Finance, Edward W. Eardley.

Fairmont's entry in the contest was "Apartments to Let" by Lindsey and Nugent, a fast moving and clever comedy which placed third in competition. The cast was composed of Helen Boggess, Mary Moore Miller, Nancy Ruth Haught, and Walker Thomas. Marshall College won first place with "Where the Cross is Made" by Eugene O'Neill; Glenville was awarded second place, presenting, "The Man Who Died at Twelve O'clock" by Paul Green.

Other schools participating were: Shepherd College, Concord College, and Potomac State. The plays were judged by Carl D. Cass of the University of Pittsburgh.

Intercollegiate Debating

THE Fairmont debating season got under way on February 8th when the affirmative team consisting of Joseph Fordyce and Marshall Brown, and the negative team composed of Justin McCarty and Edward W. Eardley journeyed to Keyser, Hagerstown, and Shepherdstown. There to debate Potomac State in two debates at Keyser, and to meet Shepherdstown in a radio debate at Hagerstown, and in the evening at the Shepherd Teachers College auditorium. The proposition debated on the trip was the limitation of incomes, inheritances, and gifts.

Samuel Broidy, Harold Fortney, Joel Johnson and William Strouss accompanied by Dr. Ward made the second trip of the season to Slippery Rock and West Liberty. On February 15th the former school was visited by the negative team of Broidy, Fortney, and Johnson who debated on the cancellation of the inter-allied war debts. The following day the affirmative team of Fortney and Strouss met West Liberty on the limitation of income question.

On February 15th the two debating teams of Shepherd College were entertained. On the 16th the West Liberty affirmative team met the Fairmont negative composed of McCarty and Eardley on the limitation question. On February 21st a dual debate was held with California State Teachers College, at California, Pa. The California affirmative team met the Fairmont negative team in the afternoon at Fairmont on the war debt question; in the evening the affirmative team composed of Fordyce, Eardley, and McCarty accompanied by Dr. Boughter went to California and debated in the college auditorium.

The annual radio debate at the convocation exercises was held on Thursday, February 23rd. Bethany was the opponent. The war debt question was used with the affirmative, Fordyce and Eardley debating. In the afternoon a debate of the Oregon type was held with the Fairmont team of Johnson, McCarty and Broidy upholding the negative.

The Wesleyan College team was debated at Fairmont on February 27th; the limitation of incomes question was used, Eardley and McCarty debating for Fairmont. On March 1st two debates were held with Baldwin Wallace College of Berea, Ohio in the Fairmont High School auditorium. The cancellation of debt proposition was used; Eardley, Fordyce, Broidy, and Johnson debating for Fairmont.

A dual debate with Glenville was held on March 8th, Glenville coming to Fairmont in the afternoon and upholding the negative side of the limitation of income question with Fordyce and Brown debating the affirmative. In the evening Eardley and McCarty debated the affirmative in the Glenville Auditorium. The affirmative of Strouss and Fortney journeyed to Wesleyan on March 13th and debated on the limitation question.

Fairmont attended the state tournament held at Huntington on March 17th. The limitation question was used. Eight schools were represented. The Fairmont affirmative team of Fordyce and Brown met the Shepherdstown negative; the Fairmont negative team of Eardley and McCarty met the Potomac State affirmative. Potomac State was declared the winner of the tournament.

Fairmont last year established a chapter of Kappa Gamma, honorary speech association. Plans are now on the way to hold the first annual tournament at Fairmont on April 21st and 22nd. Debates for men and women, extempore, oratory, and expression contests are to be held. The schools who have the invitation to be present are: Kent State College, Arkansas State College, Ohio University, Marshall College, Slippery Rock, Shepherd College, California State Teachers College, and Fairmont. Many other contestants are expected.

The debate squad this year consisted of the following:

Joseph Fordyce
Marshall Brown
Samuel Broidy
Joel Johnson

Edward W. Eardley
Justin McCarty
William Strouss
Harold Fortney

Dr. I. F. Boughter acted as the coach.

Y. W. C. A.

THE Young Women's Christian Association, the oldest organization on the campus for women, has a membership of more than one hundred. The organization has broad aims which are: to broaden religious experience; to develop social attitudes; to help build character; to develop leadership; to create friendships; to widen horizons; to help girls to grow; to serve the campus, community, and state; and to give girls worth while activities in work and recreation.

Some specific work of the organization has been: welcome for new students, discussion group meetings, Christmas pageant, vesper services, Mardi Gras, social service work, banquets and parties.

The Y. W. C. A. has been particularly active this year and unusual enthusiasm has been shown for its activities.

Y. M. C. A.

HAVING been founded in 1921, the Y. M. C. A. holds the honor of being the oldest campus organization. The foremost purpose of the "Y" is to lead students to faith in God and thence to better living. It serves as a gathering of serious and sincere men students, regardless of fraternity, nationality, or religion, to study the problems of the college, the state, and the nation.

In fulfilling its purpose, the "Y" has proved to be a worthwhile organization for both men students and male members of the faculty.

College Chorus

THIS year the College Glee Clubs have been combined making one chorus of sixty-five voices. In the fall after the opening of school, the chorus presented a musical drama, "From the Yellowstone" by the American composer of Indian Music, Lieurance.

In the second semester the chorus presented an all musical program in Student Body during National Music Week. The chorus presented a group of songs by American composers and as a climax to the program presented a cantata, "The Village Blacksmith," also by an American composer, Gaines. The chorus was assisted by Mrs. Jean Billingslea-Johnson, soprano, of Fairmont, and Mr. William S. Price, baritone, of Morgantown, who presented a group of solos as well as carried the solo parts in the cantata. The chorus was accompanied by the college orchestra under the direction of Miss Ruth Staley, with Margaret Brill, the official accompanist for the chorus, at the piano.

Miss Mary B. Price directed the chorus throughout the year, and arranged and directed the official program.

A - R - T Club

THE A-R-T Club was founded at Fairmont State Teachers College, early in 1933, by a group of students interested in the artistic phase of every day life.

The name A-R-T has a three-fold meaning to the members of the club. Appreciation, Recreation, and Technique are the standard upon which the club was organized. The purpose of this body is stated in the name; appreciation of good art; a recreational project with no scholastic credit; and a development of skill and technique in creative work.

The French Club

THE French Club, Nous Autres Français, was organized in 1931 by a group of French majors and minors. It requires of prospective members an average of C or above, including 15 hours of French with 40 honor points, or 20 or more hours with 30 or more honor points.

The aims of the organization are: to provide occasions for developing and using powers of French conversation; to study the ideals, culture, and institutions of the French people, thereby developing a deeper interest in the study of the French language.

Incidentally, the members learn to conduct meetings and recreation in French. Regular meetings are held once each month; and an interesting program is presented at each meeting. In 1932 and again in 1933 the club presented a student assembly program entirely in French.

Band

THE Band of Fairmont State Teachers College is well known all over the state for its skill and handsome appearance. The Band, a rather late addition to the organizations of the school, has proved a valuable asset to Fairmont College in numerous ways. Its presence never fails to enliven any event athletic or otherwise which takes place on our campus. Thoroughly drilled and skillfully directed by Mr. Pierre Audin, the Band is one of Fairmont College's most noble achievements.

Excerpts From Mound 1915

SELF-RELIANCE

It matters little what people may say
About the things we do,
For the sneers of the cynic, now aboard,
Look for the false, not for the true.

It's what you really are that counts,
Toward making the soul immortal;
So bravely steer for the open sea
And sail for the golden portal.

For God helps them that help themselves,
In every struggle for right;
The good now covered with the dust of wrong
Will finally come to light.

—M. H. '17

"The students of the Fairmont Normal School certainly owe a debt of gratitude to the teachers who, during the Spring Term just past, taught for ten weeks without any immediate remuneration, and with only slight prospects of any in the future. The members of the Senior Normal Class in particular should be grateful for this service, for had the School been closed during the remainder of the year, it is very likely that they would not have received their diplomas or teachers' certificates, and would thus have been compelled to wait another year before entering upon the duties of their chosen profession."

Editor's Note: Times are not so bad but that they might be worse!

A Brief History of Fairmont State Normal School & Teachers College

(Taken from a "History of The Fairmont Normal School," by Mrs. N. R. C. Morrow)

THE Legislature of West Virginia, by Chapter 120 of the Acts of 1867, provided for the State Normal School at Marshall College, Huntington, and created a Board of Regents.

Dr. Wm. R. White, of Fairmont, at that time State Superintendent of free schools, and previous to his election to that office, at the head of an academy in Fairmont, conceived the idea of asking for a branch of the Normal School to be established at Fairmont, and communicating this to his friends, among whom was ex-Governor A. B. Fleming, received their hearty support, and a charter was speedily obtained under the title, "The Regency of West Virginia Normal School."

By Chapter 123, Acts of 1867, an appropriation of $5,000 was secured from the State to be applied by said Regency in establishing a Normal School "for the purpose of educating and training teachers in the improved methods of instruction and discipline adopted in the common schools of other states."

By act of the Legislature, 1869, the Independent School District of Fairmont was authorized to place a part of the pupils of the district under the direction of teachers in the Normal School as a "Model School" to be taught in the Normal building. At that time the Normal School was conducted in a building on the corner where the Watson Hotel now stands, then known as the Old Shot Tower.

Dr. W. R. White was the first principal, serving till 1870, when he was succeeded by Prof. J. C. Gilchrist, who served one year, being in turn succeeded by Dr. J. G. Blair, of Parkersburg, a former vice president of Ohio State University. Dr. Blair remained until his death in December, 1878.

By Chapter LXX, Acts of 1872, an appropriation of $5,000 was made for a new building, provided the Board of Education of Fairmont District would appropriate a like sum. This was done, and the present Second Ward school building was then the new home of the Normal, occupied for the first time in June, 1873. The first graduating class held their commencement ceremonies in June, 1872.

Miss M. L. Dickey was appointed principal, following the death of Dr. Blair and served till 1882, when she resigned to marry Colonel R. E. Fleming. Prof. U. S. Fleming acted as principal the following year, and in 1883 Prof. Conrad A. Sipe was elected principal. In August, 1889, Prof. Sipe resigned, and Miss Cameron, now Mrs. N. R. C. Morrow, who had been for five years Assistant to the Principal, was elected Acting Principal. In June, 1890, Miss Cameron resigned to marry George Morrow, of Fairmont, and the Board elected Prof. John Roemer, of Wheeling, to succeed her. Prof. Roemer served but one year, being succeeded by Prof. J. C. Gwynn, of Wheeling, who also served but one year, being succeeded by J. Walter Barnes, who had been a member of the school since spring 1885, and assistant principal since fall 1889.

The school with the passing years had been steadily growing until now it had practically outgrown its quarters, and largely through the efforts of Professor Barnes, sentiment for a new building was aroused. On March 9, 1891, the Legislature passed a bill providing for the sale of the state's interest in the old building for $15,000, and appropriating $20,000 additional for the erection of a new Normal School building. In February, 1892, at the city of Charleston, the contract for the new building was let; on June 14, following, the cornerstone was laid, and on March 27, 1893, the school moved into its new quarters.

Professor Barnes was in charge of the school until 1901, when he was succeeded by Prof. Marcus M. Ross, a native of Marion County, who for a number of years had been a teacher in Nashville, Tennessee. Prof. Ross died in the fall of 1902, and was succeeded by Prof. W. L. McCowan. The following autumn, he was succeeded by Prof. U. S. Fleming. Prof. Fleming's health failed him in 1907, and he resigned, to be followed in office by Dr. C. J. C. Bennett. Dr. Bennett resigned in June, 1910, to accept a position in the University of Oregon. To succeed him, the Board of Regents elected Prof. O. I. Woodley, of New Jersey, as president. Mr. Woodley was transferred to our sister school at Huntington at the beginning of the school year, 1916, and Joseph Rosier, who had been for several years Superintendent of our local schools, was appointed in his place.

The Legislature of 1913 authorized the sale of the buildings on Fairmont Avenue, and the purchase of the present grounds. In January, 1917, the new building was completed, and the school moved in. Since that time, many other changes have taken place in the campus and there have been several additions to the buildings, namely: Morrow Hall, named for Mrs. N. R. C. Morrow, completed in 1922; the library wing, added to the Administration Building in 1926; the Science Hall, completed in 1931; and the Stadium and tennis courts constructed and completed in 1929.

The prospects for the Fairmont State Teachers College and Normal School were never brighter.

The Monongahela System

. . . . brings to the people of Fairmont and adjacent communities, electricity, gas, and transportation services. A high degree of dependability in all these services is zealously sought and guarded. Improvements are being made constantly. In addition to encouraging development within the company, the Monongahela System maintains several departments which co-operate with worthwhile, industrial, community, and home projects. You are invited to make use of these services.

L. Hicks—"Last night I had a terrible pain in my arms."

S. Berdine—"Who was she?"

Gene Rogers—"Do you like to see a man smoke a pipe?"

V. Tetrick—"Yes, why don't you give yours to one?"

Moral Hall—"Ah, my proud beauty, you are in my power at last!"

Morroz Hall—"Well, what are you waiting for?"

Gamma—"You remind me of the ocean."

Chi—"Because I'm deep and restful and romantic?"

Chi—"No, you make me sick."

She—"Please don't take advantage of my innocence."

He—"Don't go back so far."

Doolittle—"May I marry your daughter?"

Mr. Rittenhouse—"What is your vocation?"

Doolittle—"I'm an actor."

Mr. Rittenhouse—"Then get out before the foot lights."

FAIRMONT STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE

The MOUND turns its quarter century period this year. During these years it has built up a fine lot of MOUND tradition.

The College itself is turning its sixty-eighth year—a long period of usefulness to the State of West Virginia and to the people of the State. Continued service to West Virginia is Fairmont's only aim and purpose.

THE LAST WORD

THIS is the most pleasurable moment we have had in the past year; to know that we have successfully completed our endeavors fills our hearts with untold joy. One who has never experienced the trials and joys of working on a yearbook cannot appreciate our feelings at this moment. And yet, it is with a feeling of regret that we see the last page of copy leave the editorial sanctum.

We hope that our efforts this year will meet with your approval and that this volume will in nowise detract from the high reputation which former editors have so carefully built up. We feel that we may say with Saint Paul—We have fought the good fight, we have finished our course, we have kept the faith.
